Environmental Policy

Centre for Socio-Eco-Nomic Development (CSEND) aims to promote equitable, sustainable and integrated development.

CSEND's mission is to be a centre of excellence in socio-economic research and development. Its objective is to facilitate the advancement and practical application of socio-economic theory, in particular:

- to support human progress through an integrative balance of individual, group, societal and environmental factors in which self-development, concern for others and respect for other cultures and for the environment are seen as synergistic, rather than antagonistic factors of human life;
- to encourage the creation of inter-disciplinary teams of psychologists, sociologists, anthropologists, political scientists, lawyers and economists and others for the study of applied socio-economic research and the undertaking of socio-economic development projects both in communities and in private and public enterprises.

CSEND is committed to promote the concept and practice of sustainable development in its development programmes. Together with its members, the CSEND team promotes social responsibility and the obligation to maximize its positive impact on society and on the environment.
